In the Beginning there was a great beast. Those days are long ago. This Current beast is many years old. Its blood used to flow enough for everyone. But in more recent times it has been slightly more hard to come by and illegal blood conservation laws have limited the maximum amount of blood any one parasite can gather. There is a growing “fleadom fighter” movement who want to change the rules enforced by the flea king. The flea orphanage has been running low on blood for a while now. This is where this story begins.

Big

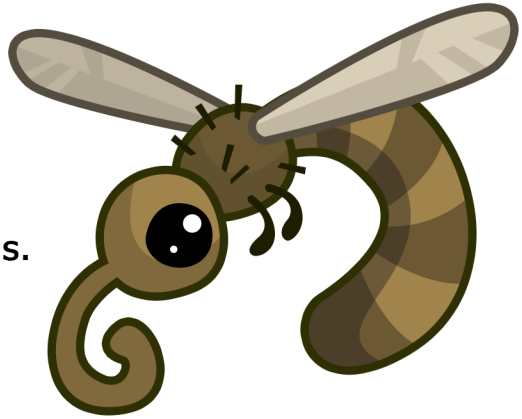
Big is a large flea in charge of the flea orphanage. He used to go out and collect blood like Henry but he's gotten too fat over the years and can no longer fit down the pipes. Now he watches over the orphan fleas and dose general management for the cause.

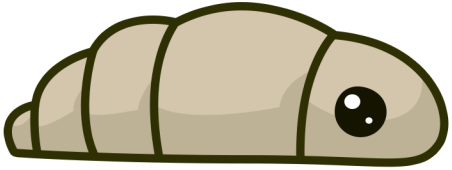
Humflea

Humflea is one of many fine blood concours on the beast. He cares about nothing more than the finest blood sourced from the farthest reaches of the beast. Unlike big he stays skinny due to his picky diet and likes things in moderation.

Mosquito

They usually show up alone but does not mean they don't group up when there's blood on the line. Their movements are sometimes sporadic. Don’t touch they are quite deadly to fleas.





Maggot maggot

They often gather in groups and just move mindlessly from side to side. Dont touch they are quite deadly to fleas.
